

Project study area

This map shows the land use in the St. Clair-Detroit River System watershed. The watershed contains both highly urbanized areas, including the city of Detroit and its large metro area, and extensive agricultural areas, including some of Canada’s most productive cropland. To learn more about the project that is assessing sources of phosphorus in this watershed, visit: myumi.ch/detroit-river